A night under the stars

Foteini Darra travels in the space-time of music at a night under the light of stars. The voice that travelled throughout Greece and worldwide arrives on Hydra on a boat full of songs in order to sing at the unique place of the Historical Museum of Hydra. A magical night with Greek sounds well known worldwide. Songs written by Greek composers and lyricists that travelled beyond Greek boundaries through voices and performances of foreign artists, such as “An thymitheis to oneiro mou”, Mikis Theodorakis' song, performed by the Beatles under the title “Honeymoon song”!

Three Greek soloist musicians will escort her on the piano, the wind and percussion instruments. Orchestration by George Papachristoudis.

A night that will create strong memories.

Foteini Darra is an acclaimed greek singer and actress. She studied music at the Greek National Conservatory and acting in Athens School of drama. She has sung together with some of the greatest Greek and international artists and performers.
